

Ken O' Malley's Wild Atlantic Way tour

October 16 to October 16 to 25, 2021

Note: Arriving in Ireland before October 16 and/or staying beyond October 25, are of course options and I will be happy to assist anyone with questions or arrangements.

October 16. Allowing for everyone to arrive in Dublin Airport around 9am or earlier, we will board our luxury coach and drive southwest to Bantry Bay in West Cork. It will be a nice drive and we will make comfort stops and enjoy the beautiful scenery. Our first three nights will be in the Maritime Hotel in the town of Bantry, where we will be greeted by a welcome committee when we arrive.

October 17. Our first morning in Bantry, after a full Irish breakfast, we will drive to Castletownbere and be greeted by the locals who will welcome all of us. We will visit Dunboy Castle, last stand against the English of the O'Sullivan Beres in 1601. Right next to the castle is the Puxley Mansion which I will talk about on site. We might have lunch at Dzogchen Beara, the Buddhist Meditation Center nearby, where the vistas and cliff views are breath taking. Enjoying a nice relaxing day around town we will meet many new friends who will show us true Irish hospitality. I am still organizing events in West Cork, keep you all posted.

October 18. We will take a drive to the other side of the Beara Peninsula and visit the Mizen Head Visitor Center, managed by my cousin Stephen O'Sullivan. It was once a lighthouse and the most south westerly point of Ireland. This whole area we are visiting is breathtaking and still unknown to most tourists. Our tour will take us on to the town of Skibbereen, the central market town in West Cork. Thousands of people sought refuge from the famine here, in the 1840's and many of them died from starvation. An Gorta Mór, The Great Hunger, is recognized as one of the greatest disasters in 19th century Europe. We will visit the Famine graveyard outside of the town

October 19. Day four will see us leave the southwest and drive north through Killarney, in Co. Kerry. On up through the picturesque town of Adair in Co. Limerick, crossing the River Shannon and arrive for lunch at the magnificent Cliffs of Moher in Co. Clare, definitely Ireland's Wonder of the World. A short drive on will bring us into the medieval Galway, City of the Tribes. We will overnight at the Victoria Hotel in the town center and enjoy the local pubs and entertainment.

October 20. After breakfast, our tour will take us out along the shores of Galway Bay to the native Gaelic speaking region of Connemara. The barren landscape is dotted by lakes and rivers and stone walls that go on forever. The magnificent Twelve Bens mountain range rises above us as we make our way to Kylemore Abbey for lunch. The abbey, originally built as a country home for an Englishman in 1867, took one hundred men four years to build. We will drive on through the wilderness into Co. Mayo. Our third stop is the beautiful town of Westport, where my father grew up. Often regarded as the best place to live in Ireland, it is renowned for its charm and history. Built to house the workers on the local landlord's estate in 1780, the town was architecturally designed and even the river was rerouted through the center of town. Sitting on the edge of Clew Bay, the town is known for its deep sea angling, traditional music and some fine restaurants. We will be at the Westport Plaza Hotel which has a wonderful spa and swimming pool should anyone wish to avail.

October 21. Our first morning in Westport, we will drive to Ballin-tubber Abbey, founded in 1216. The abbey has an incredible history and despite many efforts to destroy it throughout the centuries, by Henry VIII, Queen Elizabeth I and Oliver Cromwell, it never stopped serving the people and masses were said always. Restored completely in 1966, the 750th anniversary of its founding, one can still attend mass there daily. Afterwards, we will return to Westport for a relaxing day around town.

October 22. Our tour today will take us northwest through the town of Newport and out to Achill Island, onto which we may drive. Until the 1960's one had to wait for low tide to cross to the island; now we have a bridge. It's the largest of the islands around Ireland and has some of the most sea ravaged scenery anywhere in the country. On our drive around we will visit the old Famine Village, a collection of a dozen or more stone cottage ruins abandoned in the 1840's.

October 23. Our final destination, the capital City of Dublin awaits as we drive east to the other side of Ireland. It's about a three hour drive and we hope to stop and visit Kilmainham Gaol as we enter the city. Reopened in 1966 on the 50th Anniversary of the 1916 Easter Rising, it is one of our country's most solemn and historical destinations. Within days of the Irish surrender, fourteen of the Rebellion's leaders were executed here under martial law, with no fair trial. The leaders expected no mercy and gave their lives for Irish freedom. After our visit we will check into the Clayton Hotel in the lovely area of Ballsbridge. The rest of the afternoon is free to explore the city.

October 24. The final day of our tour will be for the group to amble around the city, to go off explore, shop, and just relax in Dublin's Fair City. There are many interesting sites to visit around town, a good way to see them is the "Hop On, Hop Off" bus tours. We will plan a nice party in the evening with some terrific music with dinner.

October 25. Our tour coach will escort those who are leaving Ireland to the airport and will depart the hotel around 9am. At this point we will not make that a hard departure time, we will check everyone's outbound US flights and do our best to accommodate the group.

Thank you for allowing me to share my Ireland with all of you, I feel sure you will all feel a sense of belonging many times throughout the trip. This is your Ireland.

Because of the Covid situation, site visits etc. are subject to change.
